

Your Information Technology Advisor

We specialize in helping companies that needing to evaluate, select and implement technology to solve business problems. Advit, LLC provides highly skilled technology leaders on an interim and/or part time basis.

Overview of Services

- Interim IT Management
- IT Health Check
- IT Strategy

Our target market is small to mid-sized companies, not large enough to have senior technology leaders on staff. Often, our customers are companies in transition and have a temporary leadership void to fill.

Advit advisors will work with your company's leadership team, readily available when you need guidance on Information Technology projects, services or strategy.

Our advisors are certified in ITIL Service Management. ITIL is an international standard and best practices in Information Technology Services.

Interim Management Services

Rent a CIO

Leverage CIO or experienced IT managers to help you through a transition in the organization. Advit advisors will become an extension of your management team to provide the expertise you need to successfully complete a transition.

Technology Coach/Mentor

We provide targeted coaching and mentoring services for high-potential Information Technology staff, ensuring they develop the skills you need as your business grows.

Due Diligence

If you are a company in the process of acquiring or divesting from a business, Advit can provide an experienced, unbiased assessment of technology plans and potential costs.

Program Management

We provide program and project management services to reduce the risks associated with mission critical technology projects. Advit advisors will manage your project to ensure completion so you can focus on other business priorities.

Business Transformation

Advit advisors can help you develop and implement programs to change the business systems or technology infrastructure to reduce cost or measurably improve business outcomes.

IT Health Check

Technology often represents the largest investment that a company will make. Advit brings real world experience to analyze your current situation and provide actionable guidance.

Project Assessment

Do you have a project or major program that isn't going smoothly? Advit advisors will review the current state of your key business project and provide recommendations that will improve productivity or reduce the risk of failure.

Service Assessment

Worried that technology has accelerated faster than your business can keep up? Let Advit review the current state of your systems and support services. We will conduct a targeted analysis with recommendations that save money or improve the quality of the service.

IT Human Resource Assessment

Advit's IT Technical Staff Assessment can help your business achieve positive outcomes by benchmarking where your people are today and recommending areas for improvement.

ISO 20000/ITIL Readiness Assessment

ITIL and ISO 20000 are emerging international standards for Information Technology Services. When you start planning ISO 20000 or ITIL in your organization, Advit provides a cost-effective way to assess the current state of IT services based on the ITIL framework.
